

WOO®

I am skillful in social settings, with a great capacity to inspire, influence, and unite others with my enthusiasm.

Academic Life

- Select classes focused on discussion that will satisfy your loquacious nature.
- Join a large club that throws various social events throughout the semester.
- Discuss projects with your fellow students in order to hearten you both.

Career Goals

- Choose a job in which you meet many people daily, like retail or customer service.
- Work in an office with many open spaces that allow for social interaction.
- Careers in counseling will allow you to affect many different people every day.

Decision Making

- Talk to many people, even strangers, and gather opinions to help form your decisions.
- Consider your needs for social interaction when making important life choices.
- Seek videos online of others talking about their own process during similar decision-making.

Leadership Tips

- Practice your ability to charm and influence people.
- Your energy puts people at ease and will make you an asset that brings a group together.
- Offer uplifting anecdotes to inspire those around you.

Relationship Building

- Learn the names of as many people as possible and write down their details, like birthdays and hobbies.
- Reach out to a select number of people regularly, in order to form deeper relationships.
- Strive to bestow attention equally amongst the people closest to you.

Extracurriculars

- Join a social group where you can meet new people regularly, like a book club.
- Find opportunities to travel and immerse yourself with the locals.
- Approach people who look lonely and lend them some of your contagious energy.
