

RESTORATIVE[®]

I am astute at solving problems and recognizing areas of weakness that can be improved, with a gift to resuscitate and breathe new life into anything.

Academic Life

- Consider school a way to improve yourself and look for ways to do so.
- Search for classes that inspire brainstorming when problem solving.
- Take a position in student government that will allow you to seek campus betterment.

Career Goals

- Customer service work will give you a sense of accomplishment.
- Careers like doctor, engineer, counselor, or mechanic will feed your need to diagnose.
- Seek an environment that needs your therapeutic energy.

Decision Making

- Allow yourself time for decision making, so as not to become self-critical.
- Seek advice from Strategic types who can help you devise a plan.
- Anticipating and preventing problems should always be a part of your process.

Leadership Tips

- Counsel others on how to best rehabilitate areas of struggle in their lives.
- Offer help to those who are less adept at finding solutions.
- Your tendency towards constant improvement will inspire others to desire the same.

Relationship Building

- Find someone who will work on a restorative project with you.
- Reach out to rebuild relationships that may have fallen by the wayside.
- Counsel others on how to maintain and/or repair their relationships.

Extracurriculars

- Volunteer for an organization that needs to be rescued from extinction.
- Fundraise for causes and social issues that drive your passion.
- Look into a hobby like restoring antiques.

